

URGE RUSSIA TO END PERSECUTION

France Fears That Jewish Atrocities Will Prevent War Loan.

International News Service: BERLIN, April 7.—News dispatches arrived here by the way of Switzerland confirm the rumor that France is about to raise a large loan in the United States. The French statesmen and financiers seem to be afraid of a failure, though, on account of the alliance with Russia. Paris papers generally admit that it will be very difficult to obtain the desired hundreds of millions of dollars in America if something is not done at once to better the condition of the Russian Jews.

The socialist organ, "L'Humanite," publishes a violent protest against the persecution of the Jewish race by the Russian authorities and appeals to the czar to make an end to this barbarism. The protest has undoubtedly been inspired by the French government, because otherwise the censor would have suppressed it. After citing many atrocities committed by the Russian troops, the police, the civil authorities and mobs against the Jews, and picturing the terrible sufferings of the latter, the paper continues: "These facts explain why the American government cannot enter into commercial treaty with Russia several years ago. They also explain why the Jewish and some other financiers in the United States are unwilling to furnish money to the allies if Russia is to get a part of the loan."

Public Opinion Necessary. "It is of the highest importance that public opinion in the neutral countries shall not turn against us. The neutrals cannot understand how it is possible that the allies, claiming to fight for right and justice, can permit one of the allied nations to place a whole race outside the pale of law and to attempt its extermination."

"The Russian atrocities against the Jews gravely endanger the material interests of the entente and especially of Russia herself. The allied powers need the financial aid of the United States more and more, but it can only be had if there is a reconciliation between the American republic and the Russian empire."

"The persecution of the Jews in Russia must stop if we want to win the war. England and France, who are protecting the Jews of Russia under the treaty of Berlin, will have to act if irreparable damage to their cause is to be averted. The Russian government must be compelled to change its policy and to treat the Jewish race humanely."

ADDITIONAL MISHAWAKA

BANDS TO ALTERNATE ON STREETS CONCERTS

Two bands, the Mishawaka Woolen Co. and the Dodge Co. bands may furnish concerts at the four corners for Mishawakans this summer. The Business Men's association received a communication from the Dodge band asking that they be permitted to alternate on Saturday nights with the Ball Band band.

The business men could not give the band permission to occupy the corner, as the Woolen Co. organization has all the rights. Director Thayer of the Ball Band band said Friday that if the Dodge band would apply to him he would be willing to let them play every other Saturday night. They had not made application Friday morning.

BANDITS KILL 3 U. S. CITIZENS

Also Slay Spaniard When They Halt and Rob Party on Handcar.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 7.—Three United States citizens and one Spaniard were killed Wednesday by Mexican bandits nine miles south of Rosario, Sinaloa, Mexico, according to advices received here today from Mazatlan at the offices of the Southern Pacific Railroad Co.

The Americans killed were F. C. Burke, former railroad agent at Morrodo; Robert Davidson and a former conductor named Wallace, according to the railroad report. The Spaniard was a former conductor named Rodrigo.

The party was moving on hand cars from Acaponeta to Rosario when they were attacked. The bandits after killing the four and looting their baggage, compelled section hands to load the bodies on the hand cars and bring them to Rosario.

Special United States Agent James W. Keys took charge of the bodies and sent them from Rosario to Mazatlan after wiring the American consul at Mazatlan.

RUSSIA WILL PAY WAR DEBT WITH SIBERIA GOLD

International News Service: CHICAGO, April 7.—Russia will pay her share of the cost of the world war with the vast quantities of gold that lay untouched in Siberia's frozen confines, according to Prof. Henry Mace Payne, formerly of the West Virginia School of Mining. Prof. Payne was in Chicago today enroute west, where he will purchase $2,000,000 worth of modern machinery to tap the Siberian fields after the war is over.

"Russia controls all the gold fields of Siberia—by far the richest in the world," said Prof. Payne today. "Heretofore the gold has been mined in a haphazard fashion by convict labor. I am to buy for the Russian government $2,000,000 in modern machinery and Russia expects within the next few years to take enough gold from Siberia to pay the billions that this war has cost her, and to also aid England in paying her debt."

"For 400 miles along the Lena river this bonanza extends. So rich is it that one cubic yard has been known to yield $500. Vast stretches will average $500."

TRIS SPEAKER TO PLAY

International News Service: BOSTON, April 7.—It was stated on good authority today that Tris Speaker is as good as signed with the world's champions.

He and Fred Lamm have come to an understanding and the Texan will play ball for Boston notwithstanding the story circulated in New York that Tris is to be traded for Fritz Malsel and a lot of money. Baseball men here say it can easily be seen how such a story gained circulation. When Clarence Walker was signed it was considered a protective measure.

Lamm will carry both Speaker and Walker, the latter not only for his fielding and great throwing arm, but as a right hand hitter and a dangerous one at that.

IMPATIENT FOR GERMANY'S REPLY

Ambassador Gerard Asked to Find Out When Reports Will Be Ready.

International News Service:

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Ambassador Gerard in Berlin has been requested to find out, if possible, how much longer it will be before the German admiralty receives complete reports from its submarines which have been operating in the English channel. With statements from the American naval and military attaches at both Paris and London at hand declaring that the "weight of evidence" indicates that the channel steamer Sussex was torpedoed and with a mass of documentary proof to the same effect at hand, the administration today still was forced to continue "marking time."

The president and his advisers believe that Germany must be given as much time as possible to decide whether to accept responsibility for the attack on the Sussex, inasmuch as it has been agreed that if it finally shall be determined that the vessel was attacked without warning, the United States will change its passive policy regarding the submarine issue.

Expect Concessions.

In official circles no attempt is made to disguise the seriousness of the situation, although there are many officials who believe that Germany can be depended upon to make concessions which will prevent a final diplomatic break. There is little doubt that Germany will try to do this, should she finally accept responsibility for the attack on the Sussex. But if it is denied that a German submarine actually torpedoed the vessel the question of the next step will be a knotty one, inasmuch as there is no direct proof obtainable from American sources. The American naval attaches say that they have been furnished with metal fragments which they have been told were taken from the Sussex.

sex and which unmistakably are pieces of a torpedo. But they did not actually see them removed from the vessel so that they cannot swear on their own knowledge that the liner was torpedoed. And not a single American on the steamer saw the wake of a torpedo.

Calls in Col. House.

It is because of this fact that the president has called in his close adviser, Col. E. M. House, to consult with him on the subject. Many officials have suggested to the president that he should go before congress with all of his facts and ask its advice on the subject without fathering any suggestion for action. The president, however, heretofore, has planned that when he presented the facts to congress as he has promised before breaking off diplomatic relations he would make definite recommendations. But to do so it is admitted the proof that Germany has violated her promises must be conclusive in every respect. Which step shall be taken is the main question under discussion by the president and his advisers while waiting on Berlin.

Up to the present time the state department has not been officially notified that all British and French steamers plying to and from American ports are to be armed. Such action is expected, however, it is stated, and it again is stated that in every instance decision regarding clearances will be individual and only such steamers permitted clearances papers whose guns are mounted for defense only.

Burning of Barns Arouses Ire of Pennville Farmers

News-Times Special Service: PENNVILLE, Ind., April 7.—Farmers in this vicinity probably will employ detectives again in an effort to run down the "fire bug" who has burned seven barns here recently and who also is suspected of poisoning live stock.

The latest escapade of the "fire bug" was to set fire to the barn of Jack Tiehan. A few days before the barn of Ray Hapner was destroyed. This is the second barn burned on the Tiehan farm in two years. Neighbors saved the live stock but farm implements and a large quantity of hay and grain was lost.
